

Voices and Faces of Breast Cancer Survivorship Participant Registration Form

Voices and Faces of Breast Cancer Survivorship is a compelling visual display of breast cancer survivorship, as well as, a critical breast cancer education and awareness campaign. This pictorial display of large photo storyboards includes pertinent breast cancer facts and figures. The panels will be displayed in prominent public locations during the months of October and November. The campaign also consists of a video portion of 30-second spots which air on WSAV (NBC Affiliate) throughout the year. Participants of this project have a unique opportunity to reach people of various communities and share their stories of hope, survivorship and victory over breast cancer! You never know ... your story may reach one person whose life could change forever!

The 2008 Voices & Faces committee is seeking breast cancer survivors to submit applications for this project. Once applications have been received, a selection committee of volunteers will select 12 applicants for participation. The committee will look for compelling stories of survivorship and hope. Applications are due by June 20, 2008.

The production date is scheduled for Saturday, July 26, 2008 at the WSAV TV studios. Selected participants will be assigned appointments times and will be asked to arrive at least 10 minutes prior to their time.

The 2008 Voices and Faces campaign will be unveiled during the Fashion Show and Luncheon on September 27, 2008. Survivors selected for the Voice & Faces campaign will be the models featured in the fashion show!

Good luck and we look forward to reading your stories.
